park on the vacant lots across from the entrance. They have been cleaned up for that purpose. Hondo school children must come in at the small gate in the center of the east fence.
Adult tickets entitle the buyer to a reserved seat in the west stands. Please do not sit in someone else's seat. Boy Scouts will be on hand to usher.

HONDO OWLS MEET CRYSTAL CITY JAVELINAS TO-NIGHT.

In the first game for Hondo fans,
the Owls meet their friendly rivals, the Crystal City Javelinas, in what ought to be a great ball game tonight at 8:00 P. M. The Owl team and fans have been looking forward to the inauguration of night ball here, and it is hoped that the fans are in for a real treat. Local school authorities and the San Antonio Public Service Company have cooperated to the fullest in making the installation at Barry Field the "bestest of the bestest".
Mr. W. F. Gaudian, local manager of the light company, has been especially energetic in seeing that the lights were "just right".

Little pre-game dope is available on the Owl-Javelina contest. The Owls boast a strong line, headed by Captain Fred Bader. The backfield is an unknown quantity since it is composed of youngsters. Crystal's line is reputedly weak, but their backfield ace, Reeves, does not need a line ahead of his bull-like rushes.
Because of its strong backfield, Crystal fans are already predicting a district championship for the Javelina team.

CAR AND TRUCK COLLIDE.

Mrs. Elsie Warden narrowly escaped serious injury, about 11 o'clock Thursday morning, when her Ford sedan was hit broadside by a large truck, at the Northeast corner of the water works park in Hondo. Mrs.
Warden was alone in the car, driving south toward the high school. The truck, heavily loaded with corn, was driven by Leonard Wernette from near Biry and was headed West on Carle Avenue. Both drivers were unable to stop in time to avoid the collision. The force of the crash pushed the sedan to the side of the road, up against a telephone pole at the edge of the park. The bumper of the truck rammed through the left side of the car, forcing the front seat out of line, which bent outward the right side and ripped the body of the car as well as breaking the windows. Mrs.
Warden was thrown from the car onto the lawn, and probably was thereby saved from serious injury. She was severely shocked and shaken but otherwise unhurt. Mr. Wernette was uninjured and damage to the truck was very slight.

The sedan is considered a total wreck, but Mrs. Warden's loss is covered by insurance.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

Mrs. T. C. Barnes and Mrs. Richard Reilly were hostesses to the Women's Missionary Society Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs.
Barnes.

Mrs. O. A. Fly acted as leader of the program. Quiet music was played by Mrs. S. O. Woolis and a hymn was sung.

Mrs. J. A. Horgor presented the very interesting Missionary Topic:
"Planting the Gospel in Mexico" and Mrs. Highsmith gave a very spiritual meditation talk. After the program delicious refreshments consisting of lemon cream sherbet and cakes were served by the hostesses to seventeen members.

MEDINA COUNTY EXHIBIT DAY A SUCCESS.

Hondo was the scene of a most interesting array of exhibits on Saturday, September 17. The exhibits of canned products, relics, antiques and clothing were sponsored by the Medina County Home Demonstration Club women and 4-H Club girls.

Approximately 350 entries were sent in by members of Home Demonstration Clubs, consisting of pickles, vegetables, preserves, fruits and meats. 4-H Club members entered wool comforts, tufted spreads, quilts, scarfs, re-finished furniture and canned material.

Other exhibits of interest were antiques and relics, such as pictures of early pioneers, clothing, musical instruments, albums, clocks, etc. Much interest was evidenced in this particular exhibit, and many of the visitors recalled incidents connected with these old relics.

During the noon hour, a picnic lunch was spread by club members and their families. Coffee and cake were sold by council members to visitors and club members.

In the afternoon, Misses Gena Thames, Home Demonstration Agent of Caldwell County, and Myrtle Pfluger, Home Demonstration Agent of Bandera County, judged the canned products and awarded ribbons to members of the various Home Demonstration Clubs as follows:

MISS BOHMFALK HONORED

Miss Mae Belle Bohmfalk, whose marriage to Mr. Clinton Wiemers will be an event of Saturday, September 24, was complimented with a tea and miscellaneous shower from 3 to 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, September 20, at the home of Mrs. F. A. Heyen. Hostesses were Mesdames Horace Schweers, Frank
Schweers, Ervin Bohmfalk, Wilkes Wiemers, A. H. Schweers, Ray Worley, Clarence Schweers, Henry Boh-len, and Misses Minnie Wiemers and Rubydel Weber.

The home was decorated with pink regina corona and asters in shades of pink and lavender.

In the receiving line were Mrs. F.
A. Heyen, Miss Bohmfalk, the honoree, and her mother, Mrs. Geo.
R. Bohmfalk. Mrs. Heyen wore a black crepe dress with a corsage of white feverfew and blue delphinium.

Miss Bohmfalk's frock of greenish blue crepe was adorned with a corsage of white feverfew, and Mrs.
Bohm-falk's costume was of black crepe with which she wore a corsage of feverfew and delphinium.

Miss Rubydel Weber was in charge of the bride's book, while the other hostesses alternated in greeting the guests and serving the tea dainties.

In the dining room, the table, laid with a white cut-work linen cloth, was centered with an attractive arrangement of pink queen's crown and pink and lavender asters in a white bowl and white tapers in white holders lighting the scene. Refreshments of sweet sandwiches, chicken sandwiches, pinwheel cheese sandwiches and spiced tea were served.

During the tea hours a musical program was given as follows: piano solos by Gladys Bohlen and Todie Beal; saxophone and piano duet by Master John Muenink and Miss Nellie Muenink; and an instrumental trio with Darlene Brucks at the piano, Harley Brucks playing the violin and John Muenink the saxaphone.

About seventy-five guests called to offer felicitations to the bride-elect.

AN AGED WOMAN PASSES.

Mrs. C. Weber, aged 91 years, died at her home, 523 Santa Clara Street, San Antonio, Friday evening, September 16, 1938. Surviving are:
a son, Frank H. Weber, and two daughters, Mrs. Henry Koehler and Mrs. Charles W. Ling, and a grandson, Milton Ling.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock from Porter Loring's chapel, the Right Rev. P. J.
Schuetzer officiating. Interment was made in City Cemetery No. 2.

Deceased was a sister of Frank Rieden, the man who tried for many years to develop a gold mine near Quibi. They were son and daughter of John Rieden, Sr., a Castro Colonist, at Quibi settlement. Mrs. Weber was the widow of John Weber and had resided in San Antonio for many years.

THE TEST

When the way is not rough, its easy enough
To walk down the highway of life;
And to lift high your chin Saying "I'll never give in
To any temptation or strife."

Just as long as life's cozy and every-thing's rosy
It's easy to sing and be gay
But when luck's all askew—
And all seems against you
Do you falter and stop on the way?

When the way's tough and the going gets rough
Do you say well "I'll give them my best?"
There's no use denying It's when things are trying
That you really are put to the test.
—A. T. Greene in The Swapper's Friend.

CONTRACT LET ON 7.1 MILES REAL CO. ROAD.

A contract for construction work on 7.1 miles of United States Highway No. 83 northwest from Leakey, the first unit of that important thoroughfare to be improved north of the county site, was let last week to Cage Brothers and L. A. Turner. The amount of the low bid was not stated. The contract called for grading, drainage structures, flexible base and base preservation. After months of delay in an effort to secure a right-of-way through Kerr County, a new location has been mapped out which follows the East Prong of the Frio River and the highway to the Kimble County line will be constructed entirely in Real County.

The completion of this section of road will not only be the beginning of the closing of an important gap in the federal highway, but will mean many dollars annually to the "hill country" as tourists from every state pour into this section throughout the year to enjoy the wonderful scenery and climate which it affords. In the vacation time no better place can be found to enjoy a time with your family camping along the banks of cypress lined streams of crystal clear waters, and in the hunting season those in search of Texas' largest game will not be disappointed in the hills north of Sabinal.—Sabinal Sentinel.

ABOUT PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

From Bandera New Era.
DUGOSH-GERDES.

Miss Jane Gerdes and Frank Dugosh of San Antonio were united in marriage last Wednesday night with Father Henkes officiating. The ceremony was performed at the rectory in San Antonio.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gerdes of near Bandera and the groom is the son of Mrs. Annie Dugosh.

After the wedding ceremony, the young couple left for Catarina where they visited at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leslie McMains. They went to Mexico on their honeymoon and returned Saturday. They will make their home in San Antonio, where the groom has employment.

Sterling Fisher, Bob King, J. C. Robinson of Station C, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Haby and Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Haby of Vanderpool, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wilson Jr. of Hunt and Mr. Peters of South Fork were among those who attended funeral services for J. W. Short Sunday.

Miss Emma Hodges has returned to Hondo where she is teaching school.

TARPLEY RANCHMEN BUY SABINAL HEREFORDS.

Jack Haby and son, Oscar, of Tarpley were in Sabinal Monday to receive some Hereford cows and calves purchased from I. L. Vaughan, Jr. In commenting on buying this stock, Mr. Haby said he was only interested in buying the best. The cattle were trucked to the Haby ranch near Tarpley.

Crystal City shipped a carload of flaxseed recently, which is understood to be the first solid carload of flaxseed ever shipped from Texas. In the car were 701 bags containing 55,624 pounds. The car was shipped to Archie Daniels Midland Co. at Fredonia, Kansas, and it sold at around $1.80 per bushel, it is said, which should net about $1.50 per bushel. There are approximately 1000 bushels of flaxseed in the car. In addition to the above there are 20,000 to 25,000 pounds of flaxseed being held back for planting next season, enough to plant 400 or 500 acres. Other planting seed will be shipped in and the estimate now is that around 1000 acres will be planted to flax in this area next fall.

MEDINA VALLEY DISTRICT SCOUT NEWS.

Field Scout Executive W. N. Nicholson was in Lytle, Castroville, LaCoste and Hondo Friday and Saturday last week working in the interest of the Boy Scouts. He reports that Supt. J. G. Barry of Hondo is resigning as District Chairman. Mr. Barry has done very effective work in the organization of the District and his help will be missed, however, the District Committee understands that Mr. Barry's work will be increased two-fold with the Building Program recently instituted by the Hondo School Board. Mr. Barry's successor will be appointed at the next District Meeting which will be held at LaCoste.

Rev. Highsmith of the Hondo Methodist Church will have charge of the Hondo Troop.

Rev. Wilson of the Lytle Methodist Church is rebuilding the Lytle Troop which became inactive during the late summer.

The Castroville Troop has a new Scoutmaster, Mr. Tom Dailey, who will carry on the work that has been so well started by Supt. Saathoff, who has been acting as emergency Scoutmaster until he could provide a successor. Mr. Dailey lacks only two merit badges of having his Eagle Badge.

The LaCoste Troop will shortly blossom forth in bright new uniforms in order to help conduct the Fair being held there September 23rd.

AGENTS HOLD LANDSCAPING SCHOOL.

Miss Sadie Hatfield, Extension Specialist in Landscape Gardening, left Tuesday afternoon after conducting a two-day landscaping school in Medina County for home demonstration agents, and yard improvement demonstrators.

On Monday, Miss Hatfield and visiting home demonstration agents landscaped the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riff, Whole Farm demonstrator of the New Fountain Community.

On Tuesday, demonstrations on balling and burlaping shrubs and trees for transplanting, pruning and propagation of plants were given by Miss Hatfield. During the afternoon, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Riff of the Murphy Community, when a cutting and seed bed demonstration was given.

Among the people attending these demonstrations were: Misses Myrtle Murray, District Home Demonstration Agent, College Station; Frankie Stewart, Asst. Home Agent, San Antonio; Mary Jane Reed, Home Agent, Uvalde; Myrtle Pfluger, Home Agent, Bandera; Fannie Sue Brasuel, Home Agent, Floresville; Lohma Louise Reed, Home Agent, Jourdanton; Mrs. F. C. Wilkins, Devine; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riff, New Fountain; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Riff, Murphy; and Miss Nell Foley, Home Demonstration Agent of Medina County.

JAKIE SCHUEHLE IN THE NEWS AGAIN.

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 20—The Rice Institute regulars went on a touchdown stampede, with much improvement over their dismal showing Saturday in an exhibition game against the scrubs.

Big Jake Schuehle, whose papa is sheriff of Hondo, Texas, ran rampant today, scoring three touchdowns against the reserves, and Ernie Lain, the junior passing and line bucking star, bucked over a fourth.

Schuehle's three touchdowns were made on line plunges and the big kicking and blocking senior showed up a real threat to Rice opponents in the coming season which opens on Oct. 1, against Oklahoma University.

Olie Cordill of Big Spring, the junior back who made a big name as a kicker, pass receiver and broken backfield runner last year, returned to the lineup today after an absence caused by a slight shoulder injury.—San Antonio Express.

Mr. Charles Oefinger was a business caller at this office Wednesday. Mr. Oefinger is, like the rest of us, bothered over the prospect of going into the winter dry, and thinks much expensive feeding may have to be resorted to by people with cattle to carry over.

Poultry shipments from Texas to interstate points during June were substantially below those of June last year, while egg shipments were virtually unchanged. Out of State shipments of poultry during June totaled 51 cars against 63 cars during the corresponding month last year, a decline of 19 percent; while egg shipments totaled 44 cars compared with 43 cars during June last year. Five cars of eggs were shipped into Texas during June, all of which came from Kansas; last year, in June, 11 cars were brought in, 9 from Kansas and 2 from Nebraska.

Mr. Wm. Huegele, a recent purchaser of a fine farm a few miles south of town where he will make his future home, was a caller at this office Monday and set a good example for others to follow by subscribing to both our papers. Mr. Huegele thinks our section has neglected a splendid opportunity by not planting pecan trees extensively. He believes that with proper care they will thrive most any where in the Hondo section. Mr. Huegele also advocates the building of dams on the Hondo Creek for the storing of water and believes it would mean a larger and more dependable supply of water in the shallow wells of this entire section.

Forms and instructions for use in making request for the free cotton-classing service to be supplied this year for properly organized one-variety groups are now available, according to E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Extension Service of College Station. The forms and instructions for filing may be obtained from any one of the cotton-classing offices of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Addresses of Texas offices are P. O. Box 1366, Dallas; P. O. Box 1140, Austin; and 509 U. S. Court House, El Paso. The classing service as it will be started with the 1938 cotton crop provides free classification of a sample from each bale of cotton produced by a member of a qualified improvement group. Notification of the grade and staple length according to the U. S. Cotton Standards, will be returned to the grower from whose bale the sample is drawn. The service is not available to individual cotton growers, only to members of organized improvement groups. Miller urges that one-variety associations that desire the free service for the current crop apply as promptly as possible, so that the Bureau may arrange all details for handling and shipping the samples. Only those communities that will qualify by meeting the rules and regulations of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics will be eligible to receive the classing service, Miller said.

Live stock shipments to the Fort Stockyards and interstate trade from Texas farms and ranches may be moderately below the level of the corresponding month last year, as reported by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The total of 10,308 cars reported a decline of 12 per cent from May, 1937. Cattle shipments, 588 cars, declined 15 per cent from last year; shipments of calves, 615 cars, declined 4 per cent; hog shipments, 615 cars, declined 1 per cent; and shipments of sheep, 2,061 cars, were down 6 per cent.

QUIHI NOTES.

And Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone that he had put for his pillows, and set it up for a pillar and poured oil upon the top of it. And he called the name of that place Bethel. Gen. 28:18,19.

Make haste slowly. Jacob does so. Much too slow for modern modes of traveling, for the average disposition of present day travelers. Rising early and then squandering time with setting up a pillar, indulging in a vague ceremony, the pouring of oil on top of it, and the fumbling for a name that might suit his dream-night, the experience that touched him to the quick, that set his feet on a new path, that would commemorate his impressions and, in a worshipful, solemn and lofty manner, dedicate it back to Him who had given that wonderful testimony of His presence and kindness. He called the name of that place Bethel, the house of God. Much too slow and tedious all around for the traveling public today, where things are packed in a flutter and a splutter and the scrambling speed carries, helter-skelter, from place to place, a passing glance here and there, a casual acquaintance now and then, a hairbreadth escape at the next corner with nerves exasperated and at the breaking point, an unwilling slow-down in the traffic jam of the next city, a slap-bang, hurried rest at the next tourist camp with mosquitoes or alarming dreams and often questionable sanitary conditions; again onward in the headlong plunge for the next stop, mountains, valleys, bridges, villages, meadows, slopes, rivers distorted and tangled in the breathless press—for what? Ease, enjoyment, relaxation and rejuvenation? Yes, later, after you're home again and the review of car expenses, hotel bills, police tickets, lost luggage, indigestion or expensive mishaps does not mar that rest-up process. Jacob, we assume, traveled with little baggage, and with most travelers, nowadays, the old-fashioned cumbersome traveling equipment of bulky satchels, handbags, boxes, bundles and bags is quite reduced. The built-in trunk stows away the necessities and inevitable household museum. Slacks do away with the stuffed cloak-room. The bag with compact and the accessories for hair, face and nails—never forgotten—substitutes the beauty parlor. A well-stuffed purse (not the best arrangement for these days of wonderful public safety), rather a letter of credit or an extensive wallet of traveling checks (nice, if you can afford it), are the main requisite. You may leave a number of other things safely at home, too. Your worries, business-troubles, carping cares about things at home, in house and stable and field, your politics, your personal whims and niceties, your formalities meant for the neighbor's observation, your critical air of self-importance and superior judgment. It does not take with your fellow-travelers. It's a useless burden and galls many a moment. But do not leave your God at home. In a way, Jacob had done it. For the time being. How about travelers and tourists and vacationers today? Bible part of the equipment? Time for a prayer or short devotion? Taking in a service on Sunday here and there? Intoning a happy hymn on the way? Strong when the various temptations beckon by the wayside? Resisting the detours into sin and shame? Strong in the Lord when the promiscuous crowd somewhere strives with might and main to draw you into their whirlpool? Godless for awhile? Many return with light purse and a heavy conscience and their Christianity in tatters. Jacob found his God on the way again. Did it happen to you? Standing at the seashore with the mighty waves rolling in, sailboats skimming the horizon, a stately freighter making for port; climbing up the mountains with their impressive view; looking down upon fertile valleys in harvest glory; trailing through shady woods with their overhanging silence and sunlit tree-crowns; passing into the midst of noisy cities with all the earmarks of human toil and industry; has it ever occurred to you that God is unfolding this panorama for you, as a signal token of His Kindness? Pouring the oil of gratitude, a substantial gift for His kingdom, keeping the memory of it sacred, as a Bethel, a house, a vivid reminder of God and the love due Him on your part, would tally nicely with Jacob's simple service of thanks. Think it over.

The contemplated Community Social for October is gradually taking shape. The committee has been appointed and will work fast for a definite line-up of a real program in connection with other features for diversion and with due consideration for the stomach-question. Kindly help along when approached and invited for this affair, to make it a success. Watch for the date and detailed announcements. Thanks.

We were glad to welcome Mrs. Henry Bohlen from Bisbee, Arizona, back here in her former home community. She has learned to like that state with ever so many former residents of Medina county, though quite a contrast to this section, yet home surroundings are never forgotten and she intends to remain quite a while around here, staying at present with the family of Mr. Walter Balzen.

Happy school days are here again. Some homes have become rather quiet and deserted. The mothers are laboring under the change, perhaps more than the little tot they accompanied on that first important trip. Little worlds are breaking down in the mind and fancy of those first year pupils, worlds that have been carefully and lovingly reared at home for a number of years. The first view of a new world with new surroundings and new aims under new management looms up—and the change is often bitter and disappointing. But they must be weaned into it, and let us not forget this task in our prayers, that the teachers may be qualified and enabled, fully and honestly, all around for their arduous work, that they may find a ready response and co-operation both from their pupils and the various homes where they emerge. As everywhere, the blessing of God makes the thing a real go of lasting effect for the best interests in home, school, state and church.

Announcements for September the 25th: German service at New Fountain at 10; no Sunday school; English service at 8 P. M. When did the Lord see you in his house of worship last? Does He care? Do you? Better come. The invitation means you.

FIRE DESTROYS FEED.

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed a shed and its contents of over a hundred tons of hay, at the Kollman Brothers' slaughter pen, about seven o'clock Tuesday evening. The fire department responded to the call but the flames were too far advanced to be checked. However, several other sheds were saved from a similar destruction. The shed had but recently been built and the hay for winter feed had been stored in it for not more than two weeks. The damage was estimated at about $1500, a total loss, as there was no insurance on the shed or its contents.

THE PRESS GETS A BREAK.

If the old superstition "Beginner's Luck" holds true, tonight's football game at Barry Field should bring the Hondo Owls through to victory with flying colors. There are all kinds of "first times" in store for players and fans alike. To begin with, the Crystal City-Hondo game will not only be the first game for the 1938 season but it will also be the occasion for breaking in the new recruits to the Owl team. It is the initial game under floodlights for Hondo on its home ground, Barry Field. For the Pep Squad, there will be an enlarged drum corps and—important to the ladies—new and very becoming uniforms. Of interest to the press, is this "first": Special seats in the press box are being reserved for a representative of The Owl, the Anvil Herald, and the paper from the visiting town, and the press is being honored with season passes for all home games. The reason for this privilege, which we gratefully and publicly acknowledge, is to facilitate the coverage of the game by the press representatives and to accord them honor as the medium through which school activities are passed on to those who are unable to be eye witnesses. Considering such auspicious "beginnings", there should be present a large number of new faces!

BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. Chas. Langfeld was hostess to the club on Thursday afternoon when she entertained with four tables of bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. G. S. Secrist for high member, Mrs. Chas. Rohrbach, high guest and Mrs. Herman Ney for low. Miss Ursie Lee Rock cut high for consolation. A delicious salad course was served by the hostess to the members and following guests, Mrs. F. Kimmerly and Mrs. Chas. Rohrbach, and Misses Verene and Stella Finger and Ursie Lee Rock.

CARLOT SHIPMENTS.

Carlot shipments fell off during the past week and are confined to corn alone. Seven cars of that grain have gone out since our last report. Incoming shipments were three cars of range cattle, one of gasoline and one of lumber. Cotton shipments for the season have reached 335 bales, the movement of that staple having almost ceased.

MONIER REUNION.

Thirty-five descendants of the late Theabo Monier met at a roadside park north of Bandera on the Medina River, Sunday, September 18. The day was spent in conversation and playing games, and a sumptuous dinner and supper was served consisting of various meat dishes, salads, pies, cakes, coffee and iced tea. Everyone present enjoyed the day.

J. A. WEYERTS OBSERVE GOLD-EN WEDDING YEAR AND RE-CALL OLD GUN-TOTIN' DAYS.

With memories of gun-poppin' cowboys in old Alpine shooting the crown out of his derby hat, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Weyerts, resident here continuously since 1886, Tuesday, September 6, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and were "married" again just as they were on their silver anniversary and by the same preacher.

The celebration took place at the senior Weyerts' home, with their children, with numerous other relatives and guests. Mrs. Fritz E. Weyerts managed the baking of a great big pyramid cake for the affair and a whole lot of little cakes, between thirty and forty—representative maybe of the branches of the family tree.

John A. Weyerts was born seventy-three years ago, in Germany, and came to America at the age of sixteen, then to Texas and arrived in Alpine March 2, 1886—which puts him here for half a century and two years over. Miss Emma C. Poehler was born near Hondo, Texas, seventy-two years ago, and came to Alpine just a little later than her future husband, on May 2, 1886. They became sweethearts out here in this dusty, whooping cowtown on the new S. P. railroad and were married September 6, 1888, the Rev. Mr. Tharnberry performing the ceremony.

Big Family Living

Six children of Mr. and Mrs. Weyerts swelled the population of Alpine and are living today—Mrs. F. C. Duncan, Fritz E. Weyerts and Miss Johnnie Weyerts, all of Alpine; Toney H. Weyerts of El Paso; Mrs. H. B. Sudaly of Grandfalls, over in Ward County; and Milton B. Weyerts of Brackettville. Besides these the family tree has seventeen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Mrs. Weyerts of the oldest generation has brothers and sisters living around Hondo, one brother occupying the old homestead house where the first generation of Poehler children was born, including Emma C. Mr. Weyerts has one sister, Mrs. M. Harms, eighty-three years of age and living in Alpine.

The Rev. G. Langner, now of Knippa, was the elder Weyerts' pastor at intervals for a quarter of a century, was present at the Weyerts, silver wedding anniversary and performed a "marriage ceremony" for them in the custom of the occasion, and was present here Tuesday and said the golden wedding anniversary nuptials for the blushing Mr. and Mrs. Weyerts. Mr. Langner has been coming to Alpine for forty years and wouldn't have missed the present occasion for anything.

Derby Hat Plumb Ruined
Mr. Weyerts and his sister, now Mrs. Harms, came from San Antonio to Alpine in a wagon, putting in many days on the long and arduous trip. They crossed the Pecos River on the old Rim road route, which was famous in the back-years as a precarious, narrow, rutted wagon track, and the memory of that drive on the brink of a great cliff is fresh in their minds today.

The brother and sister came here to join a brother, Fritz H. Weyerts, who had preceded them, and who with his family lives here today. The brother had been here long enough to be well on to the practical joking proclivities of a frontier gang of cowboys, so he proceeded to josh his brother, John. He may have put a bug in the ears of some cattle ranches, John did not understand English any too readily in those days, and when he saw a gang of cowboys lined up and heard talk he didn't know just what it was all about. Then the waddies all began to fire their six-guns and shout. John did not know just what they were shooting at. But he wasn't being hit. He decided their target was his derby hat. In his uncertainty he removed the stiff-katy and set it on a post, and in less than no time, amid the smell of burned gunpowder, the crown was shot out of the hat. Mr. Weyerts, being a good sport, donned the brim and wore it gaily the remainder of the day, just to show there were no hard feelings over the episode. Such was life in the Far West in those distant days.

It is understood that Fritz H. Weyerts denies any knowledge of a "frame-up" on his brother, but he probably had a good time that day too.

The golden occasion at the elder Weyerts' home here Tuesday night was one of old memories and family ties, of tender friendships and relationships of brothers and sisters and children long to be remembered and go down in family history for younger generations—an established and respected family in grand reunion.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED BY WEYERTS

In celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Weyerts kept open house Tuesday evening, September 6th, from seven to ten o'clock. Assisting them in receiving their friends, were their children, Toney of El Paso, F. E. of Alpine, Miss Johnnie Weyerts of Rankin, and Mrs. Cecil Duncan of Alpine. Another son, Milton B., of Brackettville, with his wife and family visited his parents last week, and a daughter, Mrs. Harold Eudaly of Grandfalls was prevented from coming, by illness. In addition to their six children, Mr. and Mrs. Weyerts have seventeen grandchildren, eleven being present, and three great-grandchildren.

The marriage ceremony of the Lutheran church, followed by an impressive address, was read by Rev. G. Langner of Knippa, an old friend of the family who had been present at the celebration of the 25th anniversary.

An interesting feature of this ceremony was the presentation to the bride of fifty years ago of a new gold wedding ring, diamond-studded, and a new "engagement ring" with

"BOSS OF LONELY VALLEY"—is showing currently. The east is headed by Buck Jones, with Murriel Evans the feminine lead. Jones plays the role of a two-fisted, hard-riding cowboy who comes to the aid of his neighbors of Lonely Valley in protecting them from land-grabbers.

"SPAWN OF THE NORTH"—Sunday and Monday, has a notable cast including George Raft, Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour, Akin Tamiroff, John Barrymore, Lynne Overman and Louise Platt. The story tells of the life-and-death struggle between fishermen and sea raiders for control of the waters off the Alaskan coast.

"SING, YOU SINNERS"—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, has a top flight cast, composed of Bing Crosby, Fred MacMurray, Donald O'Connor, Elizabeth Patterson, Ellen Drew, Paul White and Irving Bacon. Lazybones Crosby... who would trade his life away to avoid doing a day's hard work.

a solitary diamond setting. Fall flowers in golden shades adorned the spacious rooms for this beautiful occasion. Under an arch of golden glow and trailing vines, the honored couple were seated during the service, and there they stood as they received the congratulations of their many friends. Mrs. Weyerts wore a handsome frock of black velvet with lace at the neck and sleeves. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mr. Weyerts wore a grey suit.

Guests of honor were Alpine friends who have celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. James Cotter and Mr. and Mrs. Jim P. Wilson.

On the lace covered table in the dining room was a three-tiered golden wedding cake topped with a small bride and groom and embossed with doves and roses. Flanking it were yellow candelabra holding golden candles. Presiding at the punch bowl were grand-daughters, Margaret Weyerts and Mary Frances Duncan, both charming in dainty evening frocks. The music of the evening was a series of Lutheran hymns, with grand-daughter, Mrs. Fred Williams, at the piano.

The high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Weyerts are held was attested by the many beautiful gifts they received. There were elder-down puffs and wooly blankets in shades of gold, gold encrusted china and gold inlaid crystal bed spreads, rugs, sofa pillows, vases, gifts too numerous to mention, all in a color to commemorate the golden anniversary.

Over one hundred Alpine friends called during the evening. Mr. Weyerts' only living sister, Mrs. Harms, a resident of Alpine for over fifty years, was present as an honored guest.

Among out of town friends present were Mrs. Weyerts' two brothers, Henry Poehler and William Poehler, his wife and Miss Lillian Moehring, all of Hondo, and Mrs. Mary Poehler and son or Brackettville.

as a candidate for Commissioner for Precinct No. 3, Medina County.

As computed by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, farm cash income in Texas during May was $25,823,000 compared with $20,923,000 the preceding month and $31,022,000 during May last year. Normally there was a decline in farm cash income for the State as a whole from April to May, so that the increase in May this year over April caused a sharp increase as a whole after adjustment is made for seasonal variation. The decline in income as compared with May last year was primarily the result of the drop in farm prices. In the districts in which live stock are relatively important farm cash income held up well. During the first five months of the year the computed farm cash income for the entire State—exclusive of government payments—was $99,229,000 compared with $112,138,000 during the corresponding months last year. It is estimated that the computed figure is about 90 per cent of the actual.

TOUCH-DOWN TACTICS

ORANGE BOWL GAME ... by Jack Meagher
Head Football Coach
Alabama Polytechnical
Institute

This is the first of a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Cities Service Football Guide.

NO Southern team had made a score in the Orange Bowl in the four years the New Year's Day game had been played. Our squad felt that they had to beat the jinks as well as the powerful Michigan State team, led by Johnny Pringel, fast and hard hitting halfback. Auburn went into the game with the odds against them. Michigan outweighted Auburn ten pounds to the man. From the snap of the first ball our team played heads up football. Our line charged hard and refused to give ground when on the defensive. Fenton and Kelly lead the attack and before the first quarter was over we had the ball on Michigan State's twelve yard line. This deep penetration of the opponent's territory, with the ability to stop Pringel, seemed to be the turning point of the game.

Late in the second quarter we were deep in Michigan State's territory where we sustained a penalty which placed us on the Michigan 30 yard line. Kenmore received the ball and dropped back and threw a pass to O'Gwynne, who carried it to the two yard line before he was brought down.

After two unsuccessful attempts to cross the Michigan goal line the play diagrammed above was called. It is an End Run from Notre Dame T Formation, which usually precedes the shift into the Notre Dame Box. The defensive set-up is the normal strong defensive arrangement against this formation.

The play is an end run from the T Formation and is optional, either inside or outside the defensive end. Like every other good play the success of this one will depend largely upon the effect other plays immediately preceding it, have made upon the defense. It has the maximum interference ahead of the ball carrier; it develops fast and tends to catch the defense off balance.

Quick opening plays from the same formation, or plays after the shift into the Notre Dame formation, usually precede this play to get the best effect. It is a good weapon inside the ten-yard line of an opponent.

Auburn used the play on the Michigan State two-yard line on third down for a score. Quick opening plays had been used with our full-back Sitz taking the ball inside tackle on the first and second down. Marion Walker, our quarterback, called on little Ralph O'Gwynne, right halfback, and he carried the ball over for the only score of the Orange Bowl game at Miami.

Auburn piled up 12 first downs to Michigan State's 2, made 197 yards to 40 on the ground and 81 to 25 through the air.

The Brown Mouse

By HERBERT QUICK

"I am not aware," said Jennie, "that he has been in the habit of receiving so very many from outside the district. Well, shall we go in?"

Once inside, Jennie felt a queer return of her old aversion to Jim's methods—the aversion which had caused her to criticize him so sharply on the occasion of her first visit. The reason for the return of the feeling lay in the fact that the work going on was the same sort, but of a more intense character. It was so utterly un- like a school as Jennie understood the word, that she glanced back at the group of educators with a little blush. The school was in a sort of uproar. Not that uproar of boredom and mis- chief of which most of us have fami- liar memories, but a sort of eager up- roar, in which every child was in- tensely interested in the same thing; and did little rustling things because of this interest; something like the hum at a football game or a dog fight.

On one side of the desk stood Jim Irwin, and facing him was a smooth stranger of the old-fashioned lightning-rod type—the shallower and lax- er sort of salesman of the kind whose sole business is to get signatures on the dotted line, and let some one else do the rest. In short, he was a "clever."

Standing back of him in evident dis- tress was Mr. Cornelius Bonner, and grouped about were Columbus Brown, B. B. Hamm, Ezra Bronson, A. E. Talcott and two or three others from outside the Woodruff district. With envelopes in their hands and the light of battle in their eyes stood Newton Bronson, Raymond Simms, Bettina Hansen, Mary Smith and Angie Tal- cott, the boys filled with delight, the girls rather frightened at being en- gaged in something like a debate with the salesman.

As the latest-coming visitors moved forward, they heard the schoolmaster finishing his passage at arms with the salesman.

"You should not feel exasperated at us, Mr. Carmichael," said he in tones of the most complete respect, "for what our figures show. You are un- fortunate in the business proposition you offer this community. That is all."

"I'll Bet You a Thousand Dollars," Cried Carmichael Hotly.

Even these children have the facts to prove that the creamery outfit you offer is not worth within two thousand dollars of what you ask for it, and that it is very doubtful if it is the sort of outfit we should need."

"I'll bet you a thousand dollars—" began Carmichael hotly, when Jim waved him down.

"Not with me," said Jim. "Your friend, Mr. Bonner, there, knows what chance there is for you to bet even a thousand cents with me. Besides, we know our facts, in this school. We've been working on them for a long time."

"Bet your life we have!" inter- polated Newton Bronson.

"Before we finish," said Jim, "I want to thank you gentlemen for bringing in Mr. Carmichael. We have been reading up on the literature of the creamery promoter, and it is a very fine thing to have one in the flesh with whom to—to—demonstrate, if Mr. Carmichael will allow me to say so."

Carmichael looked at Bonner, made an expressive motion with his head toward the door, and turned as if to leave.

"Well," said he, "I can do plenty of business with real men. If you want to make the deal I offer you, and I can show you from the statistics I've got at the hotel that it's a special deal to get started in this part of the state, and carries a thousand dollars of cut in price to you—let's leave these children and this he school- master and get something done."

"I can't allow you to depart," said Jim more gently than before, "without thanking you for the very excel- lent, you gave us on the advantage of the cooperative creamery over the centralize. We in this school believe in the cooperative creamery, and if we can get rid of you, Mr. Carmichael, without buying your equipment, I think your work here may be pro- ductive of good."

"He's off three or four points on the average overrun in the Wisconsin co- ops," said Newton.

"And we thought," said Mary Smith, "that we'd need more cows than he said to keep up a creamery of our own."

"Oh," replied Jim, "but we mustn't expect Mr. Carmichael to know the subject as well as we do, children. He makes a practice of talking mostly to people who know nothing about it—and he talks very well. All in favor of thanking Mr. Carmichael please say 'Aye.'"

CHAPTER XXI

A New Era Dawns.

There was a rousing chorus of "Aye!" in which Mr. Carmichael, followed closely by Mr. Bonner, made his exit. B. B. Hamm went forward and shook Jim's hand slowly and con- temptuously, as if trying to remember just what he should say.

"James E. Irwin," said he, "you've saved us from being skinned by the smoothest grafter that I ever seen."

"Not I," said Jim; "the kind of school I stand for, Mr. Hamm, will save you more than that—and give you the broadest culture any school ever gave. A culture based on life. We've been studying life, in this school—the life we all live here in this district."

"He had a smooth partner, too," said Columbus Brown. Jim looked at Bonner's little boy in one of the front seats and shook his head at Columbus warningly.

"If I hadn't herded 'em in here to ask you a few questions about co- operative creameries," said Mr. Tal- cott, "we'd have been stuck—they're pretty near had our names. And then the whole neighborhood would have been sucked in for about fifty dollars a name."

"I'd have gone in for two hundred," said B. B. Hamm.

"May I call a little meeting here for a minute, Jim?" asked Ezra Bronson. "Why, where's he gone?"

"They're some other visitors come in," said a little girl, pulling her apron in embarrassment at the teacher's absence.

Jim had, after what seemed to Jennie an interminable while, seen the county superintendent and her dis- tinguished party, and was now en- gaged in welcoming them and endeavor- ing to find them seats—quite an im- possible thing at that particular moment, by the way.

"Don't mind us, Mr. Irwin," said Doctor Brathwayt. "This is the best thing we've seen on our journeyings. Please go on with the proceedin's. That gentleman seems to have in mind the perfectin' of some sort of organiza- tion. I'm intensely interested."

"I'd like to call a little meetin' here," said Ezra to the teacher. "See- in' we've busted up your program so far, may we take a little while long- er?"

"Certainly," said Jim. "The school will please come to order."

The pupils took their seats, straightened their books and papers, and were at attention. Doctor Brath- wayt nodded approvingly as if at the answer to some question in his mind.

"Children," said Mr. Irwin, "you may or may not be interested in what these gentlemen are about to do—but I hope you are. Those who wish may be members of Mr. Bronson's meeting. Those who do not prefer to do so may take up their regular work."

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Bronson to the remains of Mr. Carmichael's creamery party, "we've been cutting bait in this neighborhood about long enough. I'm in favor of fishing, now. How many here favor building a co- operative creamery if we can get the farmers in with cows enough to make it profitable, and the equipment at the right price?"

Each man held up a hand.

"Here's one of our best farmers not voting," said Mr. Bronson, indicating Raymond Simms. "How about you, Raymond?"

"Ah reckon paw'll come in," said Raymond blushing.

"He will if you say so," said Mr. Bronson.

Raymond's hand went up amid a ripple of applause from the pupils, who seemed glad to have a voter in their ranks.

"Unanimous!" said Mr. Bronson. "It is a vote! Now I'd like to hear a motion to perfect a permanent or- ganization to build a creamery. Mr. Irwin will you please act as secretary."

Jim sat down at the desk and began making notes. The meeting appointed committees, fixed upon a time for a future meeting, threw a collection of half-dollars on the desk to start a petty cash fund, made the usual joke about putting the secretary under bond, adjourned and dispersed.

"It's a go this time!" said Newton to Jim.

"I think so," said Jim, "with those men interested. Well, our study of creameries has given a great deal of language work, a good deal of arith- metic, some geography, and finally saved the people from a swindle. Rather good work, Raymond?"

"My mother has a delayed luncheon ready for the party," said Jennie to Jim. "Please come with us—please!"

But Jim demurred. Getting off at this time of day was really out of the question if he was to be ready to show the real work of the school in the afternoon session.

"This has been rather extraor- dinary," said Jim, "but I am very glad you were here. It shows the utility of the right sort of work in better-writ- ing, language, geography and arithmetic—in learning things about farm- ing."

"It certainly does," said Doctor Brathwayt. "I wouldn't have missed it under any consideration; but I'm certainly sorry for that creamery shark and his accomplice—to be routed by the Fifth Reader grade in farm- ing!"

The luncheon was rather a wonder- ful affair—and its success was unqual- ified after everybody discovered that the majority of those in attendance felt much more at home when calling it dinner.

"What d'ye think of our schools?" asked the colonel.

"Well," said Professor Gray, "it's not fair to judge, Colonel, on what must have been rather an extraor- dinary moment in the school's history. I take it that you don't put on a rep- resentation of 'The Knave Unmasked' every morning."

"It was more like a caucus than I've ever seen it, daddy," said Jennie, "and less like a school."

"Don't you think," said Doctor Brathwayt, "that it was less like a school because it was more like life? It was life. If I am not mistaken, history of this community was making in that schoolroom as we entered."

"You're perfectly right, Doctor," said the colonel. "Jim's got too big for the district, and so we're going to en- large the district, and the schoolhouse, and the teaching force, and the means of educational grace generally. That's as sure as can be—after what took place this morning."

"He's rather a wonderful person, to be found in such a position," said Professor Gray, "or would be in any region I have visited."

"He's a native product," said the colonel, "but a wonder all the same. He's a Brown Mouse, you know."

"A—a—?" Doctor Brathwayt was plainly astonished. And so the colonel was allowed to tell again the story of the Darbshire brown mice, and why he called Jim Irwin one. Doctor Brathwayt said it was an interesting Mendelian explanation of the appear- ance of such a character as Jim. "And if you are right, Colonel, you'll lose him one of these days. You can't expect to retain a Caesar, a Napoleon, or a Lincoln in a rural school, can you?"

"I don't know about that," said the colonel. "The great opportunity for such a Brown Mouse may be in this very school, right now. He'd have as big an army right here as Socrates ever had. The Brown Mouse is the only judge of his own proper place."

"I think," said Mrs. Brathwayt, as they motored back to the school, "that your country schoolmaster is rather terrible. The way he crushed that Mr. Carmichael was positively merciless. Did he know how cruel he was?"

"I think not," said Jennie. "It was the truth that crushed Mr. Car- michael."

"But that vote of thanks," said Mrs. Brathwayt. "Surely that was the bit- terest irony."

"I wonder if it was," said Jennie. "No, I am sure it wasn't. He wanted to leave the children thinking as well as possible of Mr. Bonner; and there was really something in Mr. Carmichael's talk which could be praised. I have known Jim Irwin since we were both children, and I feel sure that if he had had any idea that his treatment of this man had been unnecessarily cruel, it would have given him a lot of pain."

"My dear," said Mrs. Brathwayt, "I think you are to be congratulated for having known for a long time a genius."

"Thank you," said Jennie. And Mrs. Brathwayt gave her a glance which brought to her cheek another blush; but of a different sort from the one provoked by the uproar in the Wood- ruff school.

There could be no doubt now that Jim was thoroughly wonderful—not that she, the county superintendent, was quite as thoroughly a little fool. She to be put in authority over him!

It was too absurd for laughter. For- tunately, she hadn't hindered him much—but who was to be thanked for that? Was it owing to any wisdom of hers? Well, she had decided in his favor, in those first proceedings to re- voke his certificate. Perhaps that was as good a thing to remember as was to be found in the record.

SUMMER ROADS IN MARAKETTA

Shade the lights a trifle, Mio Cap- itanio
The colors can remain—in the smoke haze—
Less harsh the notes on that tinpan piano.
So now I will croon a tale of happier days.
Rolling fields flowering in my own loved Maraketta.
Green blades, a host, roysterering in bright lust
A breeze rippling across the vast corn sea
Road smooth as velvet, that yester- day was brown dust,
So I rode, on a summer morning, in loved Maraketta.
I rode not alone; beside me was a silver maid
Else were no charm, no tale nor any enchantment
Destination or journey's end, never costs to be paid,
Urge of time or recovery laid no bur- den of discontent.
I recall perfect peace that morning in Maraketta.
Marguerite—remains a name and a picture. In accounting
The tollage the years exact; leaving gold in their witch-pot
Memory etches; Marguerite dancing, summer clouds mounting—Nooning under a shade tree—a day when time was not,
On the green, under a tree, summer leaved, in Maraketta.
Dream tapestries laced from no earthly spool or threading
Summer clouds far away, living breezes lightly blowing,
Thus, thus, O Master, we find paths of less fear and dreading.
Maraketta or elsewhere, spirit trails fall to our knowing.

SEPTEMBER.

Summer has left but a glowing ember;
The heat and the fire of her days has gone.
Soon we can shiver in cool September
Waiting for frost upon the lawn.
Summer, the fiery, is slow in dying;
Still she burns with a lower flame;
But this is the month of the first leaves flying,
And it is time the autumn came.
Time for the plowing and turning over Mellow soil on the hill and plain.
Wheat will be growing where once was clover,
Sprouting green in the autumn rain.

This is a time to feel contented;
Harvest is over, and skies are blue.
The heat of summer again is vented.
This is the month to plan anew.

QUOTATION FOR TODAY.

CHOOSE the best way of life, and habit will soon make it pleasant for you.—Pythagoras.

IT'S NOT SAVED UNTIL IT'S SAFE.

By T. C. Richardson, Secretary Breeder-Feeder Association

Work piles up during cotton pick- ing time and the inclination is to let other things go until the staple is safely ginned. It is impossible to plant all feed crops so that they mature and may be harvested at their best either before or after cotton picking time, and the best that can be done is to hire extra labor or else let some crops deteriorate in the field.

There is a great deal of difference in the feeding value of all hay and forage crops, depending on whether they are cut and cured at their best, or allowed to become over-ripe and woody. Weather damage in the shock is also much greater than in the stack or in the barn, and it is like throwing away part of the crop after it is made to let it stand too long, either before or after harvesting. In the case of grain sorghums birds often destroy more than enough to pay the cost of getting it into stack or barn.

Hay and curing dry bundle feed cannot be done in rainy weather, especially if it is warm enough to en- courage mildew, but moisture helps rather than hinders the making of ensilage so long as the ground is not too muddy to permit harvesting. Troy Fenner, an Erath county farmer, last year got caught with a crop of forage ready for harvest, and saved it in fine shape by using an abandoned cistern as a silo. His cows doubled their milk production when he began feeding the ensilage and this year he had a large trench silo ready to fill when the crop was ready.

It has cost a good deal of labor

ONE MINUTE SERMON.

He came unto his own, and his own received him not. John 1: 11.

"He was in the world . . . and the world knew him not." That was the sweeping accusation of John against the world. It's understandable. The world stands on an egotistic basis. It's wrapped up in its own interests. Everybody is pushing his own plow, nowadays riding it. The greatest is- sues receive but passing attention.

It's own theories and ideas have preference and predominance above all else. The greatest of its men often must eke out a measly existence with all their genius and abilities. At their death, or long after, a few eulogies and a general appraisal of their mer- its are injected into the news of the day, and forgotten the day after. It's in keeping with this general attitude and tendency of the world that it knew Him not. It knew not His mar- velous claims, (the way, the truth and the life, the Redeemer of all nations, the one who has authority and power both in heaven and on earth, he claimed to be). It did not know His ethical purity, His spiritual insight, His calmness, courage and patience, His superhuman, divine character, so totally beyond comparison. "If Christ were living today, I would de- light to give Him homage," said even the scoffing skeptic, Ingersoll. Per- haps. The world knew Him not. He is still a stranger to the world and its viewpoint, that works out its wel- fare and salvation with political cleve- rness, tax-rolls, military budgets, and when it runs into a blind alley, as so often, with the final arbiter, the roaring voice of cannon and whole- sale manslaughter. —Almost beyond grasp is the other charge, "He came unto His own, and His own received Him not." He has reference to His own race, the Jews. They received Him not. They killed Him. All the prophecies, Messianic psalms, in par- ticular the prophet Isaiah, chapter 53, that referred to Him, and which they read and interpreted and had their wisest rabbis write the most voluminous commentaries on, in the same way as we do, yet they received Him not. For them He is still the Corner-stone rejected. They refuse a Suffering Messiah, in the face of the prophetic allusions and assertions of this suffering, in the face of their own former explanations. They re- ject a God-Man, a divine Messiah, clamoring for a national hero with a world-wide scope of conquest, though He is positively described as one greater than Adam and Moses and David, in their own scripture, posi- tively described as Immanuel, God with us, as one who is above sin and death and grave, and one with the Father in thought and action. How could a mere man be our Redeemer and Intercessor, Life and Resurrec- tion? They received Him not. And they have drifted into confusion and apostasy, falling away from the God of their fathers, into materialism that waves the flag for "Mammon" from thousands of steeples in the world of commerce, into atheism that derides and bespatters religious and moral values with cynic sarcasm, and into pessimism that feels haunted and harassed even amid plenty. They re- ceived Him not. And that Corner- Stone rolled athwart their path of life and religious peace. —His own received Him not." Does John speak of Israel only? Or does he point an accusing finger to many who once accepted Him with all their heart and surrendered their very being to His grace? Nevertheless, have some what against thee, because thou hast left thy first love, writes John to the flock in Ephesus, once standing in the forefront of "His own." Receiv- ing Him by faith how many take Him for their highest trust through the word that is printed and preached? Do we stand by Him in the hour of trial and test and critical decision, even where it involves self-denial, loss of money or social prestige, sac- rifice and submersion? Does His vi- tal, purifying life-force and example and several months time to produce the fine feed crop that the South- west has this year, but it is not saved until it is safe—in the mow, the stack, or the silo. It is worth making an extra effort to see that none of it is wasted by standing in the field too long. Every bushel of grain and every ton of forage is potentially a few pounds of meat, milk or other livestock product, and every pound of those products is equivalent to money in the purse.

Government crop estimates in- dicate the largest corn and grain sorghum crop the Southwest has ever had, and the same may be said of hay, for which the season has been unusually favorable in most sections, promising later cuttings than normal. Corn 182,937,000 bushels; grain sorghums 86,086,000 bushels; hay (except alfalfa) 4,385,000 tons; alfalfa, 1,124,000 tons. Let's save it all in this fat year—next year may be a lean one.

There is still time to sow winter cover crops for grazing, to help protect the soil from washing by winter rains, and to harvest next spring or turn under for soil improvement. There is a wide choice of crops for the purpose, including wheat, oats, rye, vetch, bur clover, Italian rye grass, rescue and winter peas, and there is not a farm in the Southwest that cannot benefit by using one or the other. All livestock and poultry need green feed in winter, no matter how much dry feed they have.

Most of these crops like a firm seedbed and can therefore be drilled in clean cotton ground without other preparation. If a drill is not available it will require more seed to insure a stand, but any implement that will cover the seed properly will serve the purpose.

unreservedly govern our innermost thoughts, our daily deliberations and actions? Are we constrained by our love for Him whenever love's labor is demanded here and there? Look- ing into the interior of our soul, is Christ really there? His own ought to know. Without Him, the door of the future, of hope and peace, is shut down against us, and we beat against it in vain.

The acreage of cotton in cultiva- tion in Texas on July 1, 1938, is es- timated at 9,960,000 acres, according to a report of the Bureau of Agricul- tural Economics, released through the office of the Agricultural Statistician, Austin, Texas. This acreage is 78 per cent of the 12,769,000 acre- age standing on July 1, 1937, and 68 per cent of the average for the 10- year period 1927-1936. Based on the estimate for this year of 9,960,000 acres, this is the smallest acreage planted to cotton in Texas since 1908, when 9,377,000 acres were harves- ted. According to information from crop correspondents the acreage for 1938 has been materially reduced be- low that for 1937 in all areas of the State, and for the most part farm- ers are believed to have complied with the provisions of the Agricul- tural Adjustment Act. The seeding of the cotton acreage in Texas was somewhat delayed this year over a large portion of the State as a re- sult of continued showers during April and the first two weeks in May. Since that time, however, weather conditions have been generally favor- able over most of the State and the crop has advanced satisfactorily.

Horace Brown, 17, of Rocksprings, has been named winner of the Luling Foundation Farm Award for 1938-39, according to announcement of Dean E. J. Kyle, of the Texas A. and M. College school of agriculture. Under the award, Brown will work at the Luling Foundation for one year, during which time he will have an opportunity to study dairy, poultry, sheep, hogs and general farm practices. He will receive his main- tenance and also a salary for his work. In addition, deserving young men who are eligible to enter Texas A. and M. College, after spending a year at the Luling Foundation, may receive a $200 scholarship which is paid at the rate of $50 yearly and is enough to pay the boy's matricula- tion fees at the college. Brown won the award for the work he has done in the past three years as a Future Farmer of America. His project for the past year was raising sheep for wool. He began his work when he was given a heifer calf, which he traded for ewes. From these, he built his flock, which grazes on the 8.21 acres of land he has purchased and the 225 he rents, paying the rental by giving the owner all mutton lambs. The ewes he retained to increase his flock.

Listing more than $100,000 in premiums for livestock, agriculture, poultry, culinary, textile, hobbies, and many other classifications, the premium list for the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the State Fair of Texas is now being distributed. Premiums in Livestock and Poultry have been increased, and competition has been taken out of the county agricultural exhibits. Instead of hav- ing counties compete, each county exhibiting will be given $125.00. This will enable Texas counties to present the most complete picture of agricul- tural possibilities of the State ever seen. The premium list contains premiums which will be awarded in- dividual farm exhibits, as well as 4-H Club Boys and Girls exhibits and Future Farmer exhibits. Many new classifications are included in the premium list, such as the Hobby Show, the first annual All-South- western Newspaper Contest, the Flower Show, the Colt and Mule Show, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Koch and Mr. Henry Koch of Chovilla, California, arrived Wednesday for a two weeks' visit with their mother, Mrs. P. M. Koch, and other relatives.

Miss Alice Saathoff left last week for San Marcos where she is attending the Southwest Texas State Teacher's College.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Matula, Mrs. Emil Schreiber, Mrs. Alfus Sasser, Mrs. Charles Schreiber and daughter, Marilyn, of San Antonio were the guests of Mrs. Lena Langford Sunday.

Arson Secrist left last week to enter for his freshman year at A. & I. College at Kingsville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shoutzenberger of San Antonio visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Keller and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rothe accompanied their son, Bonnard, to Austin Thursday where he entered Texas University for his freshman year. Going on to Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Rothe spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cox Jr., returning home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Haby of Rio Medina were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lutz Sunday.

Relatives and friends of Mr. Joe Wolff of Sanderson were saddened to hear of his death Monday. Mr. Wolff was a native of D'Hanis, and had reached the age of 73. Those attending his funeral in Sanderson Wednesday were his brothers, Messrs. Emil and Sebastian Wolff; his sister, Mrs. Joe Zerr, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wolff, Mrs. Frank Wolff, and Raymond Wolff.

Clarence Ernst of San Antonio arrived Sunday for a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ernst. The young man is an airplane mechanic, having passed a satisfactory examination in the work last year. He is the designer and builder of a miniature plane, the "Calamity Jane I," in which he has installed a motor. On the local public school campus a few days ago, Ernst demonstrated the ground speed of the plane, which is also equipped for flying.

Mr. and Mrs. John Batot and daughter, Alma, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Homesley and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Nester spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Broeze in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nester and Mr. Hy Nester spent Tuesday in San Antonio.

A surprise party was given Sunday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grollmund at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grollmund. A large crowd attended.

D'HANIS 4-H CLUB.

The D'Hanis 4-H Girls held their first meeting of the current season Tuesday afternoon at the high school auditorium, with the president, Melvira Rothe, presiding. Two new members, Melverda Poerner and Donnie Mae Britz, were welcomed into the club.

Elaine Biry and Barbara Boog gave interesting reports of their trip to the Short Course at A. & M. College in July. The president reminded the members to send in their earned goods for the county contest for the trip to the Dallas Fair. Plans for a club booth in the LaCoste community fair were discussed.

FLOOD PROTECTION FOR D'HANIS PLANNED.

UVALDE, Tex., Sept. 17.—Protection for the little town of D'Hanis in Medina County, against a recurrence of two disastrous floods which swept through there three years ago will be afforded by the construction of a levee west of the town along the Seco Creek. Final plans for the levee are being prepared, according to C. S. Fowler, president of the Nueces Conservation and Reclamation District. This is expected to be the first flood-control project to be undertaken by the Nueces Valley Authority.

The plans, as prepared by U. S. Army engineers, call for the construction of a diversion levee on Parker Creek, north of D'Hanis, which would divert floodwaters from that normally dry slough into the channel of Seco Creek. The levee along the Seco will be constructed along the east bank of the stream and will be about 10 feet high and almost eight miles in length. The channel of the creek will be cleared of underbrush and trees, and also will be straightened at several points south of the Southern Pacific tracks so as to permit a more rapid run-off of floodwaters.—S. From The Owl—
OWLS OPEN SEASON WITH JAVELINAS.

The Hondo Owls will tangle with the Crystal City Javelinas next Friday night on the newly lighted Barry Field. This will be the opening game of the 1938 grid season for both teams. Game time will be eight o'clock.

The Javelinas are expected to have a strong team this year and should be stiff competition for the Owls.

The Owls are out for at least a district championship this year with seven lettermen returning to duty. In addition, the Owls have a strong line and a hard running backfield. However, the Owls' reserve is not too plentiful.

While donned in new uniforms, the team will be working hard for themselves as well as for the coaches and school.

ST. LOUIS SCHOOL NEWS.

St. Louis Parochial School opened its doors Tuesday, September sixth, for the 1938-'39 session with a large increase in enrollment in the high school department and the elementary grades. Fifty-four students registered in the high school division Tuesday morning.

The Sisters of Divine Providence are in charge with Sister Mary Paul as Superior and Principal.

The new addition to the school solved the housing problem for the school authorities and Tuesday morning the new rooms were occupied for the first time.

The occasion of the blessing of the new addition to the St. Louis High School was observed by the presence of thirteen visiting dignitaries of the diocese at a Solemn High Mass at 9:30 A. M. Thursday, September the eighth. Rev. Eugene Zuber of D'Hanis was the celebrant. The sermon was delivered by Monsignor Geehan of San Antonio in the absence of His Excellency Arthur J. Drossaerts, Archbishop of San Antonio, who was unable to attend because of ill health. Monsignor Geehan kindly thanked the people for their generosity in contributing to the erection of the new building. He also urged Catholic parents to send their children to institutions of religious training. The Sisters of Divine Providence were represented by Mother M. Antoinette, Sister M. Antonia and Sister M. Birenice from Our Lady of the Lake College, San Antonio, Texas.

Immediately after the Mass the congregation marched to the school where Monsignor Geehan and his assistants blessed the newly constructed building.

After the school was blessed the doors were thrown open to the public. Enthusiastic parishioners crowded into the new building and gazed admiringly at the recently completed project. Visitors were elated over the attractiveness and convenience of the new edifice.

Those who merit full credit and deserve to be congratulated for their unselfish interests in bringing about the erection of this new building are the parishioners themselves, and Very Rev. Dean Jacob Lenzen, who conceived the idea and saw to it that a plan was carried out.

The new addition to St. Louis High is adjacent to the old and the exterior is constructed of the same material, red brick. The walls in the interior are of white stucco with cream colored wood work. Two spacious and well-ventilated classrooms, one on the east side and the other on the west, constitute a large portion of the building. The science room is up-to-date with the latest scientific equipment. The architect designed and planned the above mentioned rooms and the library, hall, typing and Sister's Community room for the faculty's and student's convenience. A table model radio, a gift to the school, is located in the library for the students benefit. Venetian blinds in the Sister's Community room add to its beauty and privacy.

Monday morning, September 12 the members of the Senior Class assembled in the library and elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing school term: President, Clyde Bader; Vice-president, Dora Rihn; Treasurer, Patricia Suebs; Secretary, La Verne Rihn and Reporter, Isabelle Karm. The Seniors chose the Pink Rose as their class flower and coral and silver as the class color. They decided to select the class Motto at a meeting in the near future.

St. Louis School's Orchestra known as the Rhythm Makers, announced last week that several new members have been added to the orchestra.

The music pupils are taking a tremendous interest in their music lessons as they have been assigned one of the coolest rooms in the entire school in which to practice.
